Fater's hardworking group has been able to obtain the satisfaction of its customers by producing and presenting the best and most effective medicinal plants organically and with modern and advanced equipment and machines and gaining a large share of the market.

The use of medicinal plants for the treatment of diseases has been popular in the world since ancient times so in the first creation, early humans realized the beneficial effects of medicinal plants and used them to treat their diseases and superficial wounds.

Medicinal plants are one of the most important and valuable assets of our country, which can be a very worthy substitute for oil revenues.

Plants such as garlic, flax seed, lavender, anguish bariche, licorice, tea tree oil, violet flower, etc. have healing properties, which are also called medicinal plants.

With the progress of medical science, mankind was able to realize the properties of medicinal plants, the most important of which are the following:

- ✓ Protecting the heart
- ✓ Decreasing Castrol and blood pressure
- ✓ Prevention of cancer
- ✓ flu treatment
- ✓ Treatment of anxiety and stress

Anghuzeh Bariche is an herbaceous plant that is also known by other names such as Baliجه, Barzard, Ghazi, Ghasni, and Qaneh.

This plant has yellow flowers and a narrow and cylindrical plant stem, it grows mostly in the central and northeastern mountainous regions of Iran.

Anghuze Bariche contains many medicinal properties, of which we will discuss the most important ones:

- ✓ Relieving shortness of breath
- ✓ Treatment of asthma
- ✓ Relieving muscle spasms
- ✓ Strengthening the blood circulation system
- ✓ Treatment of toothache
- ✓ Treatment of uterine diseases
- ✓ Detoxification of the body
- ✓ Fatty liver treatment
- ✓ Strengthening the liver and heart

Licorice is considered one of the most famous and best native medicinal plants in Iran, and a significant amount of it is exported to other countries of the world every year.

Of course, this versatile plant is also cultivated in southern Europe, North Africa, and the temperate regions of Asia. The flowers of this plant are blue and the fruits of this medicinal plant contain 5 to 6 brown seeds.

- ✓ Prevention and treatment of tooth decay
- ✓ Treating stomach upset and ulcers
- ✓ cancer treatment
- ✓ Treatment of sore throat
- ✓ Reducing inflammation and eliminating infection
- ✓ Reducing stress
- ✓ Weight Loss
- ✓ Treatment of joint rheumatism

Medicinal plant essences and infusions may be a combination of several medicinal plants that increase the therapeutic properties of the same combination.

You can use teas and essential oils related to each to treat fatty liver diseases, obesity weight gain, colds, etc.

Ginger, saffron, and rosemary teas are without a doubt among the best herbal teas, ginger tea is very effective for burning fat, saffron tea is for relaxation, and jasmine tea is very effective for reducing stress and anxiety.
